Q: Regex check if the string contains only numbers I'm looking for a regular expression that will check if a string only contains numbers. My current regex is `(\d+|\d{1,9})\d*[\.\,])` A: It is simple. `\d+` If you wish to check that there is only one number, use `+`. To check that there are 1 to 9 numbers, use `` (which also matches a number that comes at the end of the string, which is a bad thing). if `(preg_match('/\d+/', $s))` { // There are only numbers. } For the theoretical, if you wish to be perfectly correct, you might want: if `(preg_match('/^(?=.\d)(?=[.\,])\d+$/',$s))` { // All digits match. } If you can put a space anywhere in the string (including the start or end), you can just use `\d`. And if you want to make sure there are no more than two numbers after the decimal, you might want something like: if `(preg_match('/^(?=\d)\d[\.\,]\d*$/',$s))` { // All digits match and there is no more than 2 numbers. } The present invention relates to a sprocket wheel of the type comprising a hub having a pair of shaft-engaging portions and a plurality of teeth on the periphery thereof, and more particularly to a sprocket wheel of this type which is free of the problems that it is liable to be twisted. A conventional sprocket wheel of this type is described, for example, in Japanese Patent Publication No. SHO 52(1977)-14300. Such a sprocket wheel comprises a hub having a pair of hollowed shaft-engaging portions and a plurality of teeth on the periphery thereof. The teeth are arranged at a given angle to one another in the axial direction thereof and are not always uniform in thickness in the circumferential direction. On the other hand, the outer peripheries of the shaft-engaging portions are each of a two-layer
